

JEFFREY R. BOS CAMP, M.D.

Dr. Boscamp is the Marvin I. Gottlieb, M.D., Ph.D. Chairman of Pediatrics, and Physician-In-Chief of the Joseph M. Sanzari Children's Hospital at Hackensack University Medical Center. Dr. Boscamp is also the founder of the Section of Pediatric Infectious Diseases. He is an Associate Professor of Pediatrics at the UMDNJ-New Jersey Medical School and is also the founder of the Steven Bader Immunologic Institute at Hackensack University Medical Center.

Dr. Boscamp received his B.A. from Williams College (Williamstown, MA) and his M.D. from New York Medical College (New York, NY). He was a Research Associate at Harvard Medical School (Boston, MA) and did his pediatric residency at Babies Hospital, Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center (New York, NY). After completing pediatric training, he was a resident in internal medicine at Yale University School of Medicine, Greenwich Hospital (Connecticut). He subsequently completed a fellowship in adult and pediatric infectious diseases at the Albert Einstein College of Medicine (Bronx, NY).

Dr. Boscamp joined the medical staff at Hackensack University Medical Center in 1987, and was appointed Chief of the Section of Pediatric Infectious Diseases in 1990. At Hackensack University Medical Center he is a Consultant to the Toys "R" Us/Kids "R" Us Institute for Child Development and the Tomorrows Children's Institute for Cancer and Blood Disorders. He is a Consultant in Pediatric Infectious Diseases at Morristown Memorial Hospital (Morristown, NJ), Holy Name Hospital (Teaneck, NJ) and University Hospital (Newark, NJ).

Dr. Boscamp is Chairman of the NJ Chapter, American Academy of Pediatrics, Committee on Infectious Diseases and a member of the executive committee of that organization. Dr. Boscamp is also a member of the NJ Pediatric Leadership Council, and was appointed by the Governor as a member of the Catastrophic Illness in Children Relief Fund Commission. He is a fellow of the AAP and the Pediatric Infectious Diseases Society. He is also a member of the Infectious Diseases Society of America, the Infectious Diseases Society of New Jersey, and the American Society for Microbiology. Dr. Boscamp is board-certified in Pediatric Infectious Diseases, is a member of Alpha Omega Alpha, and was the recipient of the Lawrence B. Slobody Prize in Pediatrics at New York Medical College. In 1993, he received the Outstanding Teacher Award in Pediatrics at Morristown Memorial Hospital, and in 1998 was recognized with the Attending of the Year Award in the Department of Pediatrics at the UMDNJ-New Jersey Medical School.

Dr. Boscamp's research interests are in immunocompromised children, antibiotics and Lyme disease, and he is the author of numerous articles and book chapters.

Dr. Boscamp has been a speaker at numerous continuing education programs and national conferences, including the annual meetings of the NJ Chapter of the American Academy of Pediatrics and the Society for Pediatric Research.